WE STILL OFFER

Our home "Riverview" for sale. This property is not equalled in the state at the price that we offer it for. To any one wanting a home with every modern improvement, located superbly, with ample grounds surrounding it and at a price below cost, this is the golden chance.

We offer this property for sale solely because it is too large for us to occupy and our desire is to build a smaller one. If we can sell this within the next 15 days (before May 1st), we will do so on the easiest of terms. If not sold previous to May 1st we shall begin house-keeping in it and withdraw it from the market.

Yours very truly,
Geo. L. & Sarah H. Carrington.

For An Investment

We have a property centrally located, rented for $21.50 per month, payable in advance. It is sure to rent for this or more for all time. This is over eight and a half per cent, on the price we ask for it.

There is a mortgage of $1600 to run 3 or 5 years at seven per cent.

Our price is $3000; $1000 cash, $400 to be secured on the property ten years at seven per cent. Let's figure it out, it will take $140 a year to pay your interest on the $2000; taxes say $15; insurance $5. Take this amount $160 in all from the $258 rental and it leaves you $98 net for the use of your $1000. Besides this the property is sure to advance from $200 to $500 within 5 years. It is worth looking into.

Yours very truly,
Geo. L. & Sarah H. Carrington.

HAVE STRUCK A SNAG.

The Western Congress splits on Tariff and Free Coinage.

MINNESOTA DELEGATES WITHDRAW.

They Declare the Assembly is Too Much Inclined Towards Democracy—Resolutions Adopted—John C. Wickliffe Makes a Speech.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 18.—The commercial congress was called to order at 10 o'clock a. m. S. A. Thompson, secretary of the Duluth chamber of commerce, under a suspension of the rules, spoke on transportation. His subject was on the development of the waterways of the northwest. Gen. T. W. Cutchings, of Mississippi, was next on the program to discuss the same subject. His speech was of a missionary character for the Mississippi river. He gave statistics of transportation charges from St. Louis to the seaboard by rail and by river and showed that the river gave great advantages to the shipper. J. H. Murphy, of Iowa, spoke on the Hennepin canal.

The morning session was particularly interesting on account of the paper by the now famous John C. Wickliffe, the New Orleans mob leader. Mr. Wickliffe's talk was of the patriotic kind that bestirs popular feeling, and in five minutes he had the immense audience in an uproar of enthusiasm.

Mr. Wickliffe said he would treat his subject, "Immigration and Settlement of Vacant Lands," from the text, "America for Americans." In part, he said: "We have been told that this land is broad enough for all, but I submit that the other world have made it the dumping ground for their paupers and criminal classes, and I believe that I speak for the whole American people when I say that the time has come when that must stop. There is enough room for all who want to come here, but not for those who do not want to be here. We must stop the dumping of criminals and paupers on the shores of this country. I may feel deeply upon the subject, but I have come here from a most terrible prison, which most clearly indicates the need of a change of our immigration laws."

"I believe that this country ought to declare that the national congress should prohibit the landing of immigrants who are not willing to become good citizens. I think this law ought to be put into such shape that every man who has not within a given time filed his intention to become a citizen, and who has not taken the oath of citizenship, shall be taken from the state. If he has not taken the oath, he shall be taken to the country from which he came. Gentlemen, I think it is time to make a vote out of each one of you. It does not take twenty-one seconds to make a vote out of a foreigner."

"Let no man step foot upon the soil of Columbia who cannot bring a true bill of moral cleanliness."

"I am, you know, a state's rights democrat, but I believe the power to make American citizens ought to be taken from the state courts and given to the general government."

Following is a synopsis of the majority report of the committee on resolutions presented at the afternoon session: It favors the adoption by congress of a law authorizing free, unlimited coinage of silver, and the issuance of a sufficient amount of legal tender notes to be redeemable in both gold and silver to maintain the equilibrium between money and all other products; declares the congress to be unconstitutionally opposed to the protective tariff; favors a tariff for revenue only and urges congress to enact laws to place the tariff upon a purely revenue basis at as early a date as practicable; declares that the interstate commerce of the country should be controlled by the general government, and that the state commerce commission should be strengthened by appropriate legislation; favors especially the improvement of the Mississippi river and its adjacent waters; the action of the congress in making an appropriation for the construction of the Hennepin canal and recommends that congress make ample appropriation to complete the work; commends the proposed canal connecting the Tennessee and Mississippi rivers; indorses the action of congress in making appropriations for a deep water harbor at Galveston; favors the construction of a ship canal connecting the Gulf of Mexico with the Atlantic ocean; favors the protection of harbors and navigable rivers that discharge their waters into the ocean; the establishment of a navy yard at some eligible point on the Mississippi river near its mouth; declares that the Mississippi can and should be made navigable for ocean steamers of such class as now enter the port of New Orleans and for a considerable distance above that port, and recommends the early passage of a measure similar to the one known as the Burrage bill, which provided for an appropriation of $10,000,000 to be used in the construction of levees from St. Paul to the Gulf.

The resolutions provide for the appointment of a committee of three from each state represented here to lay the above resolutions before the next national congress and urge the adoption of the policies therein recommended. The report further recommends a system of canals and slack water navigation to connect the waters of the Tennessee with the Gulf of Mexico and also a ship canal from the head waters of the Ohio to Lake Erie and a ship canal from the head of Lake Superior to the Mississippi river; favors the improvement of the Columbia river and a canal around the Dalles and removal of obstructions at Priest's Rapids and other points; favors the construction of the Nicaragua canal as a matter of vital consequence to the United States and especially to the Pacific coast and declares that there are important commercial and political reasons why this great interoceanic highway should exist as a distinctly American work under American control.

The report further invites the serious attention of the state legislatures to the problem of making such reforms in methods of taxation as will remedy the injustice of unequal taxation and as will place a just share of the burden of the taxation upon the accumulated wealth of the country; favors a national bankruptcy law; recommends that the legislatures of the states enact reforms to prevent the misuse of concentrated capital through "trusts" and "combines"; favors the amendment of immigration laws so that only immigrants who both desire and are fit for American citizenship should be permitted to land upon our shores; recommends the speedy extinguishment of the Indian titles in Oklahoma, Indian Territory and other states and territories and the opening of surplus lands to settlement under the provisions of the homestead law; favors the prohibition of the ownership of lands by non-resident aliens; recommends that all unused railway grants be restored to the public domain for homesteads; that the general government should cede its arid lands to the various states; indorses the action of congress in favor of agriculture for what it has done toward the reclamation of the semi-arid region and urges congress to continue this work and extend it to the entire country.

In conclusion the report hails with delight the spirit of fraternity that is displayed by the delegates now in attendance upon the first western commercial congress, and also the manifest determination that old animosities too long engendered between the sections shall be forever displaced by the more important work of securing the complete establishment of a free and united people.

Yours very truly,
Geo. L. & Sarah H. Carrington.

IS RUINED BY GALES.

Windstorm Causes Destruction at Marion, Indiana

HOUSES AND FACTORIES WRECKED.

The Town of Palmdora, O. T., Reported Destroyed by a Cyclone, and Many Persons Injured—The Storm's Work Elsewhere.

HAVOC BY HURRICANES.

MARION, Ind., April 18.—A destructive wind and hailstorm swept the northern part of this city at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. In that section are ten factories, not one of which escaped injury. The Crosby paper mill, a large frame building, was completely crushed and the machinery broken and dismantled. The Marion window-glass works and the Sweeney & Johnson skewer works were partially unroofed and otherwise damaged. A number of dwellings went down and trees and fences were leveled. The storm was completely ruined the storm were picked up, carried for a distance, and set down without apparent injury. A stable in which were several horses was taken from its foundation and carried several yards without injury to the animals. The lightning was vivid and struck in a number of places. The paper mill was set ablaze during the storm, but the flames were soon extinguished. Two severe thunderstorms followed soon after the hurricane.

OLNEY, Ill., April 18.—During a storm here lightning did considerable damage.

William Stille's barn was struck. Isadore Bossie's large barn in the western part of the city was struck and burned down. Loss, $1,000; partly insured. Harry Moore and a companion while coming into the city were knocked off the wagon by a load of hay was caught under it and was not expected to live. Mr. Steffy's house was struck by lightning.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., April 18.—The east part of this (Morgan) county was visited Thursday evening by a cyclone which did considerable damage. The usual funnel-shaped cloud appeared in the west and traveled in almost an easterly direction, veering slightly to the north. It generally rode high, dipping to the earth occasionally and tearing up trees and fences. One man with a load of hay was caught and used up pretty well. The wagon and contents were twisted around and around and pitched into a hedge in a twinkling, but, strangely enough, the man and horses were but little injured. Winston was paralyzed below the knees brought in Friday afternoon state that the courthouse at Hanford, Tex., in course of construction and nearly completed, was destroyed by a cyclone on Wednesday afternoon. A brickmason and another man were killed. Huff Wright, a citizen of the little town, was injured. Every house was more or less damaged. From there the cyclone traveled in a southeasterly direction to Palmdora, a little town on the Pecos river, in Beaver county, O. T., which place is reported as entirely destroyed. Both localities are many miles from railroad and telegraph, and this accounts for the lateness of the reports. Further particulars could not be learned.

TRENTON, Mo., April 18.—William Hoffman, William Ferguson and Fred Stinson sought shelter from a storm under a tree. Lightning struck the tree, instantly killing Hoffman who was leaning against the tree. Ferguson had his hand on Hoffman's shoulder and was knocked senseless, falling face downward in a pool of water. Stinson was paralyzed below the knees, but managed to pull Ferguson from the water and then crawled a mile to town for assistance. Ferguson is totally paralyzed and will die. The only mark on Hoffman was a blue spot in his forehead.

CHICAGO'S NEW MAYOR.

The Official Canvass Shows Hempstead Washburne, the Republican Candidate, to Have Been Elected.

CHICAGO, April 18.—The official canvass of the city election was completed Friday afternoon and Hempstead Washburne (rep.) for mayor has a plurality of 369 over Cregier. The canvassing board adjourned until Monday for the purpose of taking up the large number of precinct returns which have been laid over for revision, and at that time Judge Prendergast will present proof of alleged republican frauds. If these proofs are of such a nature as to invalidate the election of mayor then the board may act, otherwise the certificate of election will go to the victor, Washburne. If the certificate of election is issued the only redress Cregier has is to go into the courts, but it is not likely that he will go into protracted and expensive litigation. The vote for mayor is as follows:

- Hempstead Washburne (rep.).....45,267
 - Dewitt C. Cregier (dem.).....42,584
 - C. H. Harrison (ind. dem.).....42,401
 - E. Washburn (ind. rep.).....24,927
 - T. Morgan (socialist).....2,374
- H. Washburne's plurality..... 369
- Peter Kiolbassa (dem.) is elected city treasurer by a plurality of 4,417 over Jacob Tiedeman (rep.). Jasper Kern, the democratic candidate for city attorney, has a plurality of 1,430, and J. E. B. Van Cleave (rep.) for city clerk has a plurality of 5,400.

Burial of Mr. Halford.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 18.—The burial of Mrs. E. W. Halford, wife of the president's private secretary, occurred here Friday afternoon. The remains were met at the station by many of the relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Halford and a committee representing the Indianapolis press club. The remains were taken directly from the train to the cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Henry A. Buch, tell, D. D., until recently of Denver.

PROTECTION AGAINST FREE TRADE.

The Chicago Daily News is a tariff reform paper, and does not often present protection arguments, but its report of the Canadian movement for reciprocity is the strongest argument that can be presented. The McKinley tariff has rendered the condition of the Canadian farmer almost intolerable. All who could do so rushed their products across the line before October 6. In this way the pressure of the new duties was not felt to the full as it will be during the present year. Canada exports farm products of the value of $12,000,000 a year, taking recent averages. Of this $16,000,000 worth, consisting in the main of coarse and bulky articles used to go to the United States, says the News.

The dominion government proposed to grant duties on Canadian duties on sugar and fruits in return for different duties on Canadian manufactures and farm products. The answer of the colonies is, in substance, that it will not pay them to run the risk of being excluded from the United States market with its 60,000,000 consumers for the sake of obtaining preferential treatment in a market of 5,000,000. Experiments were made in the United States with a view of driving to Britain the exports of farm products effected by the McKinley tariff. These failed also. It was found impossible to ship hay or horses profitably across the Atlantic. Cargoes of eggs were disbarred by the government as well as by private dealers, and they proved unsuccessful. Canadian eggs laid down in London are a month or two late, and are more expensive in London, taking it this year round, less than the price in New York or Chicago. England being supplied from Ireland, France, Belgium, Holland and America. Canada and its raw materials, which has always found a lucrative market in the United States, does not suit the English brewers, who prefer the two rowed barley. The Canadian market price of day is the Buffalo price minus 30 cents per bushel and the freight charges, and so with other articles.

It has been made clear to the farmer by these tests, as well as by other practical experiments with the tariff, that there is no hope for his coarse stuff in distant countries—that he must obtain access to the United States or cease growing such products. Farmers of eastern Ontario and Quebec grow coarse products almost exclusively—viz., barley, hay, wheat, peas, potatoes, poultry, wool, cedar railroad ties and telegraph poles, etc., in addition to horses, cattle and sheep, which they have to send principally to the United States. These are more numerous than the rest. The exports of population from Quebec to New England this spring is larger than ever before. Many farmers are moving in upon the abandoned farms in New England. The soil is as good as that of Quebec and the yield escapes the McKinley duties.

Desire for cheap sugar is given by the News as another reason why Canadians clamor for commercial unity. The American consumer can now procure twenty pounds of granulated sugar for one dollar. The Canadian consumer gets only thirteen. The Canadian duty on granulated sugar is 1½ cents a pound and 35 percent ad valorem, plus 7½ percent of the sum yielded by those two imposts. Canada could purchase it from the United States instead of having to buy it from her own refiners, and she would save $6,000,000 a year.

Other staples are dearer in Canada than in the United States, including cotton, coal, oil, fish, iron and all iron and steel goods. These prices in great part from the fact that the manufacturers of Canada are unable, owing to the smallness of the home market, to specialize their labor and machinery. Perhaps the best test of the relative prices of manufactured goods in the two countries is afforded by the smelting, which nowadays is carried on almost altogether from the United States into Canada. Says the News:

Upon one point all Canadians agree—viz., that protection as applied to a self-contained continent like the United States is one thing, but quite another when set up in a small community, confined to one zone and divided by physical or ethical barriers into several groups, each of them more interested in trading with a foreign country than with one another.

The desire for a radical change of commercial policy is irresistibly strong. This desire finds expression in the liberal platform of free trade with the United States and determination to resist British and the rest of the world.
Each argument made by the News in favor of reciprocity takes added strength when applied to protection. Canada has studied the American protective system with unjudged eye, and her eagerness to secure commercial privileges is a magnificent endorsement to the wisdom of the republican party's course.

It is a significant fact that Ed Wall is the only man who has shown any desire to pass the bill authorizing a compromise with state treasurers. None of the republicans knew anything about it until the bill was produced. To an outsider it would look as if Mr. Wall was sorry the investigations had begun, and was looking for a soft spot in the road to drop on.

The president of the South American republic of Uruguay has shown his prudence and foresight in selling down $37,000,000 in the bank of England against a rainy period, which sometimes comes in that part of the world.

nothing of the bill authorizing a "compromise" with state treasurers. He will have nothing to do with it, and demands that the investigations that have been begun be carried to the end. Governor Wall may be like the hunter who wanted someone to help him let go of the bear.

TEN YEARS A VICTIM OF CATARRH.

HOW A CURSE WAS FOUND AFTER EVERYTHING ELSE HAD FAILED.

A SURE CURE FOR LA GRIFFE.

It cases like the following can be cured, seriously there is hope for all. This patient had been growing worse in spite of all treatment for ten years, and had reached that terrible condition known as the third stage of catarrh (atrophic catarrh). The offensive breath, and dry scabs forming in the nose, and cracking in the ears, describe a condition which is considered by most physicians as hopeless. The case is given in the words of patient:

KYLE, Texas, March 21, 1891.
"For ten years I have been a sufferer of that dreadful disease, chronic catarrh. The doctors all pronounced my case to be catarrh in the worst form. I took many kinds of treatment to no avail. I have tried every catarrh cure, but nothing seemed to benefit me in the least. I lost all confidence in medicine. At last I heard of Pe-r-u-na. I commenced to use it and soon found relief. I continued until I was completely cured, and am now entirely rid of all catarrhal symptoms. I would give ten dollars a bottle for Pe-r-u-na rather than be without it. It has restored me to perfect health. Mrs. M. J. TAMBLEN.

It would be difficult to describe a worse case to cure than the above. The length of time it had run, the fact that it had continually grown worse and the further fact that it had already developed the symptoms of the dry, or atrophic, stage of catarrh, combine to make this a very remarkable cure quite impossible to be made with the ordinary treatment. This cure was effected by internal treatment alone, and no spray, gargle or lubricant was used. The case began to improve as soon as the medicine was begun, and in a few weeks every symptom had disappeared, but the medicine was continued a while longer for fear they would return. Not a month passed but that hundreds of similar cures are made by the internal use of Pe-r-u-na unassisted by other treatment.

The only reason that there are any failures is either because the catarrh is complicated by some organic disease or the patient does not take the medicine long enough. The majority of people expect to be cured in a week or two of catarrh that has run ten or fifteen years. Such people are nearly always disappointed. Pe-r-u-na will cure a recent case of acute catarrh in a few days or weeks, but when the disease becomes chronic it takes longer.

During the epidemics of la grippe Pe-r-u-na has been in great demand, as it is the only specific known for this disease. Not a single failure has yet been known in the cure of la grippe where Pe-r-u-na was used from the beginning of the attack. In lingering cases of La Grippe, where other remedies have failed to cure, Pe-r-u-na rarely fails to completely restore in a short time.

Colds, winter coughs, bronchitis, sore throat and pleurisy are all catarrhal affections, and consequently are quickly curable by Pe-r-u-na. Each bottle of Pe-r-u-na is accompanied by full directions for use, and is kept by most druggists. A pamphlet on the cause and cure of all catarrhal diseases and consumption sent free to any address by The Ferrus Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio.

The approach of spring brings a host of derangements and diseases which require the most careful attention of every person who values health. A valuable pamphlet on spring diseases, giving a complete description of their nature and cure, sent free by the Ferrus Medicine Company to any address.

Try Beecham's Pills for the complexion.

Chained to the Rock.

Prometheus was chained to the rock while vultures gnawed his entrails. So many people are chained to the rock of prejudice while all manner of violent medicine inflicts injury upon the sensitive lining of the stomach and intestines. They are apparently immovable in the belief that to experience benefit they must keep doing with drastic medicines. Unless the action of these is powerful and aggressive, they are not satisfied. They would distrust a remedy of gentle action, however effective. It is not by such purgative extremes as these that the acknowledged merits of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are recognized. That benign regulator of the stomach, the bowels and the kidneys appeals to the rational—not only appeals, but is awarded a just valuation. Constipation, liver complaint, dyspepsia and kidney trouble yield to its action. So also do malaria and rheumatism.

OFF FOR TEXAS.

The President En route for the Lone Star State.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 18.—The presidential train arrived in this city on schedule time and was greeted at the station by an immense assemblage of people, who cheered the party enthusiastically. On arrival here the party took carriages in waiting and were escorted to the merchants' and cotton exchanges, the members of each of which gave the distinguished visitors a hearty welcome. At the cotton exchange an address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Clapp and responded to by the president, who referred to the development of the Mississippi valley and the great opportunities offered the people of that section by the improved commercial relations with other parts of the continent. He urged the propriety of increased attention to the manufacture, here in the great cotton-field, of the cotton into cloth, thus adding to the industry and profits of the people. He referred with especial pleasure to the opportunity given him to shake hands with the people, saying that it was a pleasure to him to shake the hands of men who, although they fought on the confederate side during the war, are now as loyal and true to the country as any.

When the cheering had subsided loud cries were heard for Postmaster General Wanamaker. Mr. Wanamaker responded in a few well-chosen remarks and referred in a pleasing manner to the prosperity of the south as evidently increasing. He was followed by Secretary Rusk. The president then held a public reception lasting about an hour, at the conclusion of which the party started for Little Rock.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 18.—The presidential train arrived in Little Rock at 5:45 o'clock Friday evening. At Madison the train stopped to enable the president to hear a serenade by a band of negro musicians. At Princeton a salute was fired from a cannon. At Carlisle, 30 miles from Little Rock, the wife of Gov. Eagle and a number of other ladies, forming a committee of reception, met the train and proceeded with it to Little Rock. Arriving here the presidential party proceeded under escort of military organizations to the state capitol, where the president was introduced to the crowd which had assembled, and made a short speech. After the president had held a short reception he was driven back to the capitol, just before 10 o'clock the train left for Galveston. Governor Hogg will meet the president at Palestine.

The president has informed the committee at Galveston that he preferred that there be no demonstration in that city on Sunday next, as it is his desire to devote the whole day to a much-needed rest.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. But unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; none comes out of ten are caused by catarrh is not by the use of the Eustachian tube.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

OLD SOLDIERS GONE.

MAJ.-GEN. CHARLES S. HAMILTON and Gen. Kilbuck Knox, Commander of the Soldiers' Home, Pass Away at Milwaukee. MILWAUKEE, April 18.—Gen. Kilbuck Knox, governor of the national soldiers' home near this city, died at the home shortly before midnight. His death was quite sudden, although he had been ailing for nine weeks with a liver complaint which caused his death. (Gen. Knox was 64½ years of age, was a native of Pennsylvania and a son of the late Chief Justice Knox of the United States supreme court. He resided in the cotton city a law partner of Edwin M. Stanton, secretary of war under President Lincoln. Gen. Knox at the age of 19 years was mustered into service, serving through the war. He was with Sherman's army on its march to the sea. From the close of the war until 1862 he was a member of Gen. McPherson's staff, after which he accepted an important government position in the New York custom house. Four years ago he was appointed inspector of the national soldiers' home here, and was made governor on the death of Gen. Sharp two years ago. Gen. Knox leaves a wife and one daughter.)

MAJ.-GEN. CHARLES S. HAMILTON died late Thursday night at his residence, No. 730 Marshall street, at the age of 68 years. He had been in failing health during the last four years, but the immediate cause of death was pneumonia. (Gen. Hamilton's military career extended through the Mexican and civil wars. He was a classmate of Gen. Grant and other noted generals of the West. Point academy, from which he graduated in 1842. He fought at Monterey, at Cerro Gordo, at Contreras and Chancellorsville. At Antietam he received a severe wound which confined him to the hospital for six months. After the close of the Mexican war he was recruiting officer for two years at Rochester, N. Y., after which he spent eighteen months in Indian warfare in Texas and Indian territory. He resigned his commission in 1862 and settled at Fond du Lac, Wis., where he engaged in business until his death. He was colonel of the Third Wisconsin regiment, which under his command was organized at Camp Hamilton, Fond du Lac, in June, 1861. Soon after reaching the field he was promoted to brigadier general. After serving under Banks and McClellan in the east Gen. Hamilton returned to Fond du Lac where he served as United States marshal from 1869 to 1877. He was president of the board of the state university for nine years, and also served as commander of the Local Legion. In 1877 he established a tinsmithing business in which he was interested up to the time of his death.)

Harry E. Merrill Unconscious for Eighteen Hours.

HARD WORK OF RESCUERS.

Con. Ryan's Injured Arm Severely Tried. Herich's Story of How the Trouble Occurred—His Escape One That Can Not Be Explained.

There was heroic work performed at the Janesville Gas Works last evening in rescuing the unfortunate men from death. Special mention should be made of the heroic work of Con. Ryan, pipe-man of the east side gas company. Ryan was injured while responding to a fire alarm on March 9, and has not recovered sufficiently to return to duty, his right arm being yet partially disabled owing to the crushing of bone and muscles. He heard of the accident at the gas house, and was one of the first to arrive after Merrill and Farmer entered. He met Fred Holden as the latter came staggering out of the building.

"I did not know what was the matter," said Ryan, "I saw Holden come staggering out of the building and thought he was drunk. When I saw him gasping for breath I at once realized the trouble. Holden was lying on the floor near the door with his feet in the straw. We carried him out and laid him down near the railway track. I went in again and helped carry Farmer out. Farmer fell on the stairs. My arm pained me and we had all we could do to get out with him. Herich rushed in after Harry Merrill and fell to the floor, overcome with the poisonous gas. Bart Nowlan was down. I gave the alarm to the men at Kent's factory, and then went down the stairs to rescue Harry Merrill, who lay on the cellar floor right at the bottom of the stairs. I put my arm around his body under his arms. It was a hard and desperate struggle, but with the help of Will Irwin and one or two others we got him out into fresh air and laid him on the ground. I turned and looked into the meter room and saw Bart Nowlan on the floor, and I yelled, 'For God's sake, get Bart Nowlan out of the building.' Joe Hennessy rushed in and brought Nowlan out just in time to prevent me from serious results. Bart when brought into fresh air was helpless, and Irwin held him. Tim O'Rourke came with a bottle of whiskey and we gave all the men some."

After the men had all been rescued Ryan discovered he had a wounded right arm, and that he had severely strained the tender cords, which, during the night, swelled up considerably, accompanied with severe pain. Ryan continued his good office by following one of the unconscious men home, rendering all aid possible in restoring consciousness, despite the pain which he suffered.

Will Irwin, who finally succeeded in bringing Harry Merrill almost to the outer air, had his hands badly lacerated in the effort. He went in thinking he could carry the prostrate man out without taking a breath, and worked so desperately that he did not realize that he was hurt until he saw the blood dropping a moment later.

It required quick work in getting the unfortunate men out of the poisonous gas, but when the alarm was sent down town the second time there was a general rush of people for the scene of disaster, and then there were plenty of willing hands to render all necessary aid.

H. E. Merrill did not show signs of regaining consciousness until 2 o'clock this morning. All through the night he struggled and gasped as if in agony. For a time four men were required to hold him in the bed. At 5 o'clock this morning he was out of doors and was able to walk a considerable distance, but when he fully regained consciousness later in the day he declared he knew nothing from the time he first fell until 10 o'clock this forenoon. "They tell me I talked to some of the visitors at the house this morning," he said, "but it was not until 10 o'clock that I knew anything."

Fred Herich, who was the first man overcome, had an escape that seems providential. He smelled escaping gas, and went down stairs to investigate. One of the "drips" into which the water from the pipes flow, had filled up, and the instead of going into the big holder, was pouring back into the cellar. The force of the gas had blown the water out of the "cellar." Herich hurried toward the valve with a can of water. He felt the blast strike him and a moment later fell. It so happened that he fell toward the stairs. He was able in consequence to drag himself up to the main floor. Had he fallen away from the stairs he never could have reached them and given the alarm. Three minutes longer would have finished him, and the first warning given would have been when the floods reached the furnace and the crash came.

All those exposed to the gas are now able to be at work.

NEW FACES IN THE CITY HALL.

The old council has much work to do Monday night.

The old council will hold a regular meeting on Monday evening, and will make its last bow, the official terms of the two year aldermen expiring at midnight on that evening. The official bonds of the newly elected officers are to be approved at that meeting, all unfinished business closed up, bills audited, and a general clearing of tables and pigeon holes. The annual report of the street commissioner will be laid before the council and probably ordered printed, bids for building the pier for the Monterey bridge will be opened, and some action taken regarding the grading of Hickory street, north.

The new city officers will take possession of their offices on Tuesday morning. Five new members of the council will come into office, they being Aldermen David Conner, Clinton D. Child, I. C. Brownell, August Lutz, James Senant. The political complexion of the common council will be unchanged, there being a tie.

Two new members will enter the school board—Messrs. T. W. Gouldin and Victor P. Richardson, who succeeded Commissioners J. C. Metcalf and Ogden H. Fethers.

HIS HORSE IN A WELL.

Samuel Tall Sees His Steed Disappear.

AN HOUR WITH MERCURY.

Rev. E. L. Eaton Has Offered the Use of His Telescope to Those Interested in Astronomy—Strawberries in Market at Low Prices.

It took twenty-five men and a stout rope to lift Samuel Tall's horse out of a twenty-five foot well at the home of Francis Northrop last night. Mr. Tall was at work filling an old well, and while turning around the horse slipped and fell backwards into the hole, going down some twenty-five feet. Ropes were procured and fastened to the horse and the animal was lifted out apparently unharmed.

A Peep at Mercury.

The planet Mercury rarely seen by human eyes because of the constant nearness to the sun, can be seen to-night if the sky is clear for an hour or so shortly after sunset. It is said that the great Copernicus never saw this planet because of the difficulty of seeing it in northern latitudes. This planet is but a little larger than our moon, and at this time it is at right angles with the sun and earth, and is therefore about the same distance from us as the sun, or about four hundred times as far away as the moon. All who desire to see its beautiful little crescent through the telescope can have that privilege by visiting Dr. E. L. Eaton's at 7 o'clock this evening if the sky is clear.

DEATH OF RUSSELL CHENEY.

Closing Hours of the Pioneer at His Emerald Grove Home.

When the friends who gathered around the bedside of Russell Cheney at his home in Emerald Grove yesterday afternoon, realized that the end had come, they were comforted by the thought that beyond the bounds of time is the life eternal into which the spirit of "Father" Cheney had entered as a shock of grain fully ripe and ready for the gleaners.

Russell Cheney was born at Theford, Vermont, April 28, 1811. He was married May 10, 1838, to Martha Lee Fowle, of Alabama, New York. Five children blessed their union. Three have since died. The two remaining are Mrs. E. W. Lowell, of this city, and Rev. R. L. Cheney, of Portage, Wisconsin.

In 1843 Mr. Cheney came to Wisconsin, and two years later located at Emerald Grove, where he has since resided. He enjoyed a wide acquaintance throughout the county, and in church circles throughout the state, and was recognized by all who knew him as an earnest christian and an upright citizen. In company with his wife who shared his musical tastes, his voice was often heard at social gatherings and the names of father and mother Cheney will long be remembered. The fifty-three years that they traveled the journey of life together sharing its common joys and sorrows, impressed the community where the greater part of these years were spent, with the fact that life is worth living well, and the sympathy that will be freely extended to the wife and family will be mingled with many remembrances of loving deeds.

Sons Bore Her Casket.

Rev. Dr. Eaton, of Court Street M. E. church, officiated at the funeral of Mrs. George Kleist, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, held at the house 272 South Main street. There was a large attendance of family friends. The remains were buried in Oak Hill cemetery, the pall bearers being the three sons and three sons-in-law of the deceased.

Sorrow for Rev. M. Evans.

Rev. M. Evans is slowly recovering from the attack of the grip, which has kept him in his room for some time. Mrs. Evans is still sick in bed and the little boy is very ill. Moreover, Mr. Evans has just learned of the death of a brother residing in Breckridge, Minnesota, of whose illness he was not aware.

Tramps Bound for the Lake.

A large number of tramps are reported hanging around the outskirts of the city and the officers are on the watch. It is said the most of these tramps are sailors and river men and are now moving towards the lakes and rivers for their summer's work.

No Ashland Riot.

There was nothing from Ashland last night to bear out the report telegraphed from there that a riot was imminent. Land owners are angry, but not inclined to fight, and the Light Infantry's marching orders have been suspended.

Sunday Will Be Fair.

Forecast for Janesville and vicinity—Fair and cooler.

The temperature as observed by E. B. Heimstetter during the last twenty-four hours was as follows:

Members of the School Board Define Their Position.

President Fethers and Clerk Burnham, of the board of education, returned from Milwaukee last evening, where they had been to consult with the architect in relation to modifying the plans of the new school buildings. They arranged with the architect for a modified plan of the buildings, and bidders will be notified that they will be at the city clerk's office on Monday morning for examination, the bidders being requested to modify their respective bids in accordance with the change in the plans.

THE CITY BILL PASSED.

The Assembly Votes to Change Janesville Ward Boundaries.

THE APPORTIONMENT MADE.

The Congressional Gerrymander Passes the House in Spite of the Protest of Rock County War Horses—Details of the Vote.

MADISON, April 18, [Special].—The bill amending the charter of Janesville passed the house last evening. It provides for the election of two supervisors at large from the city, although the number of aldermen is not increased.

It was at first proposed that the seven wards project should be pushed through, but this was ruled out. The pie that increased representation in the county board should at least be insisted upon for Janesville. It could be used to show that the first movement was on a fair footing, and was therefore decided upon as the thing.

The measure was put to a vote at the evening session and was passed with little debate. It provides for the election of two supervisors at large in addition to the five now chosen from the wards.

The bill makes changes in the boundaries of the first, second, third and fifth wards. Milton avenue is made the dividing line between the second and the third ward instead of the Milwaukee road. A portion of the first ward is transferred to the fifth as was provided in the seven ward scheme.

Mr. Winslow made no opposition to the congressional apportionment when it came up in the house last night. He voted aye when the question was put. The bill carried by a vote of 60 to 28.

TRAVELS ON HIS NAME.

A Child of Genius Who Prefers The Paces to Parlor Cars.

"Yes sir, my name is Smith. Didn't you ever hear of me before? I am a conjurer," said a tall man with a drooping moustache, and a Prince Albert coat as he stood in a hallway talking to a number of loungers.

"Yes, I've heard of you before. Your name is John Smith, isn't it?"

"That's it! I knew my reputation had arrived before me. I shake dice to see which you buy me, a cigar or a drink. You won't? Well, good bye. I am going down to Chicago. People don't appreciate genius in this town. Then they say that the city marshal is death on geniuses. Guess I'll meander."

"The limited goes at 6:25."

"Well, I won't wait. Truth is, I would rather walk."

MAKING READY FOR REVIVALS.

A Fellowship Meeting to be Held in Court Street Church.

Preparation for the Mills' Gospel meetings will be inaugurated at the Court Street M. E. church on Monday afternoon and evening. Services will be held in the main room at 8 o'clock. From 6:30 until 7 a social and basket picnic dinner will be given in the lecture room, the Court Street ladies furnishing tea and coffee. A full and free participation in the songs, prayers and conferences by all christians is earnestly desired. Evans; The True Revival and How to Promote It; Mrs. Mary C. Nide; How May the Ministry Aid a Revival? Rev. A. D. Hendrickson; What May the Laity do to Promote a Revival? Mr. B. F. Donawidie; The Holy Spirit in Revival Work, Rev. S. P. Wilder.

MAY GET HOLYOKE MILLS.

Luis Jackson Urging the Advantages of Janesville in the East.

Janesville's facilities for manufacturing are being advertised in the east in the best way possible through the agency of Luis Jackson, industrial commissioner of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. Mr. Jackson is now at Holyoke, Massachusetts, and has given to the large manufacturers in that city his list of preferred cities in the west.

Janesville is one of them. Mr. Jackson said, when he was here, that Janesville's water power was especially good, and his recommendation of this city to large manufacturers who desire to remove other factories is of great value. The Holyoke Daily Gazette says: "Mr. Jackson says that a few good water powers can still be obtained on his line of road notably on the Fox river, Wisconsin. There is a 4000 horse power, water power available, at De Pere, Wisconsin, others at Janesville and at Centralia."

THE CITY BILL PASSED.

The Assembly Votes to Change Janesville Ward Boundaries.

THE APPORTIONMENT MADE.

The Congressional Gerrymander Passes the House in Spite of the Protest of Rock County War Horses—Details of the Vote.

MADISON, April 18, [Special].—The bill amending the charter of Janesville passed the house last evening. It provides for the election of two supervisors at large from the city, although the number of aldermen is not increased.

It was at first proposed that the seven wards project should be pushed through, but this was ruled out. The pie that increased representation in the county board should at least be insisted upon for Janesville. It could be used to show that the first movement was on a fair footing, and was therefore decided upon as the thing.

The measure was put to a vote at the evening session and was passed with little debate. It provides for the election of two supervisors at large in addition to the five now chosen from the wards.

The bill makes changes in the boundaries of the first, second, third and fifth wards. Milton avenue is made the dividing line between the second and the third ward instead of the Milwaukee road. A portion of the first ward is transferred to the fifth as was provided in the seven ward scheme.

Mr. Winslow made no opposition to the congressional apportionment when it came up in the house last night. He voted aye when the question was put. The bill carried by a vote of 60 to 28.

TRAVELS ON HIS NAME.

A Child of Genius Who Prefers The Paces to Parlor Cars.

"Yes sir, my name is Smith. Didn't you ever hear of me before? I am a conjurer," said a tall man with a drooping moustache, and a Prince Albert coat as he stood in a hallway talking to a number of loungers.

"Yes, I've heard of you before. Your name is John Smith, isn't it?"

"That's it! I knew my reputation had arrived before me. I shake dice to see which you buy me, a cigar or a drink. You won't? Well, good bye. I am going down to Chicago. People don't appreciate genius in this town. Then they say that the city marshal is death on geniuses. Guess I'll meander."

"The limited goes at 6:25."

"Well, I won't wait. Truth is, I would rather walk."

Luis Jackson Urging the Advantages of Janesville in the East.

Janesville's facilities for manufacturing are being advertised in the east in the best way possible through the agency of Luis Jackson, industrial commissioner of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. Mr. Jackson is now at Holyoke, Massachusetts, and has given to the large manufacturers in that city his list of preferred cities in the west.

Janesville is one of them. Mr. Jackson said, when he was here, that Janesville's water power was especially good, and his recommendation of this city to large manufacturers who desire to remove other factories is of great value. The Holyoke Daily Gazette says: "Mr. Jackson says that a few good water powers can still be obtained on his line of road notably on the Fox river, Wisconsin. There is a 4000 horse power, water power available, at De Pere, Wisconsin, others at Janesville and at Centralia."
